Argumentative Paragraph

Write an argumentative paragraph on the topic of your choice.

Example Paragraph

Learning how to write well is important because it teaches you to pay attention to the nuances of words. When you speak--for example--it is easy to misuse a word, or not articulate yourself as clearly as you intend. This is because speaking is typically done spontaneously. When you write, however, you often have time to gather your thoughts and say things as clearly as possible. This means you have the opportunity to use the most precise word for the given situation. Therefore, writing is a valuable tool when it comes to reflecting on words and using the right word at the right time.
