

A CEO for a car company has chosen youyes youto envision the future car. And he has decided to invest millions of dollars to create your vision. You can create this car anyway you please. Don't worry if the technology you think of has not been invented yet. Just be a vsionary and be creative with your vision of the future car.

