Reading

To become a stronger reader and thinker, you need to build the habit of reading. It needs to become part of your routine. At any moment, someone should be able to ask you what you have been reading - and you should have an instant response.

The following worksheet needs to be completed once a week. The purpose is to keep you accountable when it comes to building yourself as reader.

1) What book are you currently reading and what have you learned from it? (Write 100 words or more)

If you haven't been reading, write what you would like to be reading and what you would like to be learning.

2) What is YOUR purpose for becoming a stronger reader? (Write 50 words or more)

3) What are some new words you have encountered this week? Where did you encounter them? What do these words mean?
