

Name:

Section:

Date:

Score:

Adamant

For the following activity, listen to the reading of the paragraph. The reader will read one sentence at a time. You need to practice your pronunciation of the word “adamant” by repeating what the reader says.

Middle school and high school can be a time when you discover your passions and interests, and it's important to be adamant about pursuing them. If you're passionate about art, be adamant about practicing and improving your skills. Don't be swayed by doubts or setbacks; stay adamant in your belief that you can achieve your artistic goals. Similarly, in your studies, remain adamant about giving your best effort, as hard work and dedication can lead to success.

Whether it's in sports, hobbies, or academics, being adamant about your goals and unwavering in your determination will help you overcome challenges and reach your full potential.

Now let's test your comprehension of the paragraph by asking you a few questions.

1. What is the central message of the paragraph regarding middle and high school students?

2. In what areas of life does the paragraph recommend being "adamant" and determined?

3. What specific advice is given to students who are passionate about art?
