Capture the Softer Side of a Movie Villain

Your mission is to humanize a character from a movie who has been labeled a villain. You can tell the "real" story of this character, or perhaps give a day-in-the life of what their life is like. You need to capture this character's softer side, the side that movies ignored (probably for ratings). Be specific about what this character is truly like, and if you want to add pictures--do it. So get writing, and get to the truth and softer side of a movie villain.
