Onomatopoeia

An onomatopoeia is a word that sounds like the noise it describes. Examples are buzz, squeak, thump, hiss, pop, and tap. These words excite the senses, and add imagery to a story. For example, instead of saying "the bee flew away," you could say "the bee buzzed away." Or instead of saying "the books fell on the table," you could say "the books fell on the table with a thump."

| Now that you know what onomatopoeia is, here is your task: Write a 100-word story that incorporates the words buzz, squeak, thump, hiss, pop, and tap. | | |
