Turn Your Greatest Accomplishment Into a Story

Think about your greatest accomplishment. You know, the thing you are most proud of. Now write down your accomplishment in 10 words or less.
Now that you have your greatest accomplishment, you need to turn that feat (that thing you are proud of) into a story. Give details on why that accomplishment is so special to you. Is there background information the reader should know? Did you struggle with something and overcome it over time? Were you afraid of something, and finally built the courage to take it head on. Give details about this accomplishment of yours, and most importantbe sure you write in the format of a story.
So once again, think about your greatest accomplishment, and turn that thing you are most proud of into a story.
