Write About a Time You Were Embarrassed

Have you ever done something embarrassing? Perhaps you dropped an easy pass that would have won the game. Or perhaps you got stuck in a washing machine. Or maybe you dropped your food in the cafeteria, and hundreds of people stared at you.

Your mission is to write a story about an embarrassing moment in your life. Capture the background information of your story. Where were you? What precisely made this moment so embarrassing? Did you wink at a girl you like and then walk into a glass door? If this is the case, write about what happened before the wink. Were you working out hard trying to impress her? What thoughts went through your mind as your face hit the door? Have you ever winked at a girl since?

So once again, your mission is this: Write a story about an embarrassing moment in your life. And be sure to capture your story in a fun and entertaining way.
