

Name:

Section:

Date:

Score:

Hyperbole: The Greatest Literary Device

Instructions: Watch the video lesson and underline the hyperboles in the dialogue below.

"Dude, yesterday I played the best video game in the history of the world."

"What game is that? "

"Dude, no game in the universe can rival it."

"I get it, I get. What game?"

"Dude, the whole world is playing this game--it's so lit."

"For the millionth time, what game are you talking about?"

"I am talking about Among Us."

"You still like that game? Dude that game is ancient history--so 2020."

"Dude, cry me a river. I get it, you think Roblox is the coolest thing in the history of video games, but you should play Among Us again. It's making a comeback."

"Dude, I'm drowning in homework, and I have a ton of chores to do."

"Bruh, You are not "drowning" in homework. We take the same classes. We have one paper due--that's it."

"That paper is taking me forever, bruh. The teacher wants a bazillion pages."

"Dude, you are making a mountain out of a molehill. Just relax, play some Among Us--and do your paper later."

"Bruh, you are the worst friend in the world, you know that? I haven't slept in months. I am so stressed, and you want me to play a video game."

"Exactly, you need to relax."

"Yeah, you are probably right. I haven't relaxed since the stone age."

"Yup. Now let's play some Among Us."

"Sounds good. But first, let's get some grub. I am so hungry I could eat a horse."

"Now you're talking."

Answer Key:

"Dude, yesterday I played the best video game in the history of the world."

"What game is that?"

"Dude, no game in the universe can rival it."

"I get it, I get. What game?"

"Dude, the whole world is playing this game--it's so lit."

"For the millionth time, what game are you talking about?"

"I am talking about Among Us."

"You still like that game? Dude, that game is ancient history--so 2020."

"Dude, cry me a river. I get it, you think Roblox is the coolest thing in the history of video games, but you should play Among Us again. It's making a comeback."

"Dude, I'm drowning in homework, and I have a ton of chores to do."

"Bruh, You are not "drowning" in homework. We take the same classes. We have one paper due--that's it."

"That paper is taking me forever, bruh. The teacher wants a bazillion pages."

"Dude, you are making a mountain out of a molehill. Just relax, play some Among Us--and do your paper later."

"Bruh, you are the worst friend in the world, you know that? I haven't slept in months. I am so stressed, and you want me to play a video game."

"Exactly, you need to relax."

"Yeah, you are probably right. I haven't relaxed since the stone age."

"Yup. Now let's play some Among Us."

"Sounds good, but first, let's get some grub. I am so hungry I could eat a horse."

"Now you're talking."