Writing Prompt: Mission to Mars

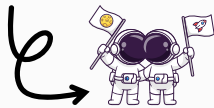

Your task is to complete the story below with creativity and clarity. Make sure your story is engaging and at least 150 words long.

Mike pressed his face against the window, staring at the red planet below. It was Mars. After six long months in space, they had finally made it.

"Strap in, everyone!" the Commander's voice crackled through the speakers. "Landing sequence starting now."

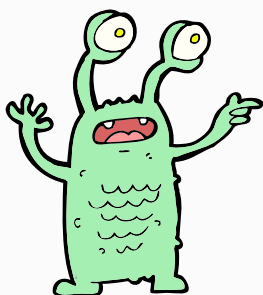

Mike tightened his seatbelt as the spacecraft shook. Outside, flames streaked across the sky as they entered Mars' atmosphere. His heart pounded. This was it—the first time humans would walk on another planet.

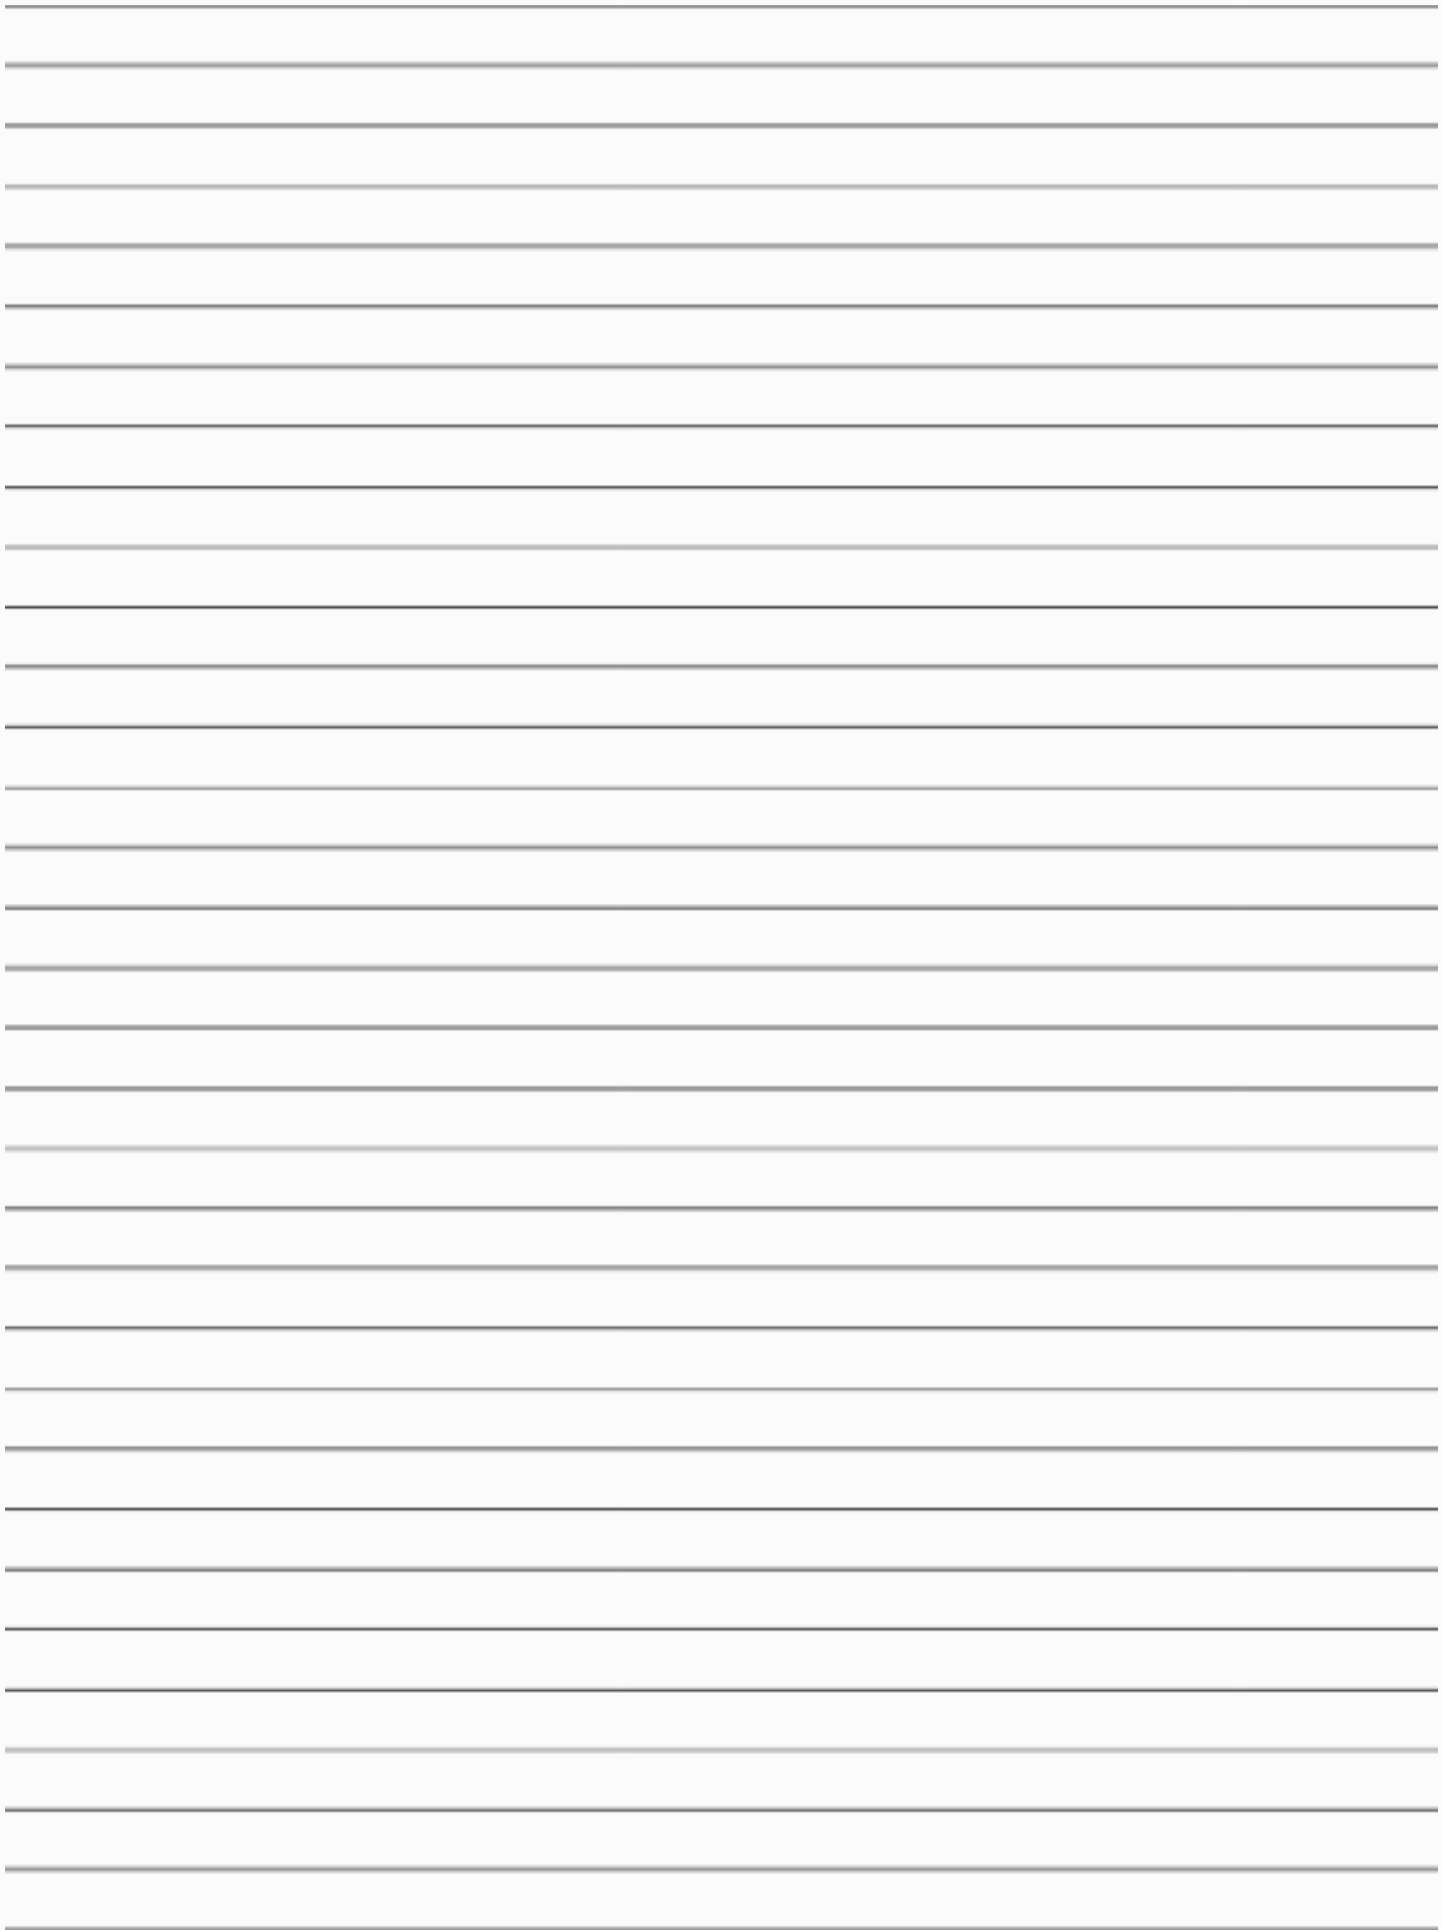

The ship touched the surface with a loud thump! For a second, there was silence. Then cheers filled the cabin.

That's when Mike peered out of his window and saw the impossible. He couldn't believe it. In the distance, he saw...
