A colorful illustration of a young child with blonde hair, wearing a red shirt and blue pants, sitting on a large, open book. The book is open to a page that depicts a vibrant, fantastical landscape. In the foreground, a winding path leads through a lush green field. To the left, a small stream flows over a rocky bridge. In the background, a tall, grey stone tower with a pointed roof and a glowing orange light inside stands amidst several large, leafy green trees. A small rainbow arches over the path. The entire scene is set against a plain white background.

This image shows a full page of white paper with horizontal grey ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page, typical of notebook or legal stationery. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the page.

Part 2 – The Twist (Classmate):

Pass your story to a classmate. They will now write the next 150–200 words to continue and complete the story. They should aim to build on your tone, style, and ideas, but they can also surprise you with a twist, resolution, or unexpected turn.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.
